Edward Connor Solicitors has been uniquely set up as both a law firm and a charity, to offer specialised legal advice to Christian organisations and churches. We seek to provide advice that is both legally robust and biblically faithful. By God's grace we've been growing to serve an increasing number of clients in advancing the kingdom.

We are looking for a property lawyer to join our existing team, working alongside other Christian solicitors at the top of their field. We are seeking an individual who is passionate about using their legal expertise to help Christian organisations and churches be more effective in serving Christ.

Property Lawyer

This could be a full or part-time position, based either in our Market Harborough office in Leicestershire or in Old Street, London. It would suit a qualified solicitor with at least two years PQE, including someone returning to work after a career break/career change. You will work closely with other members of the property team, as well as liaising with our charity law team. Experience in commercial property law is essential. The ideal candidate will also be familiar with residential conveyancing and charity law, and have a good general understanding of the legal issues that Christian organisations and churches are likely to face.

For an application pack, please email info@edwardconnor.com or telephone 01858 411568.

It is a requirement for this role that the person we appoint is an evangelical Christian who is committed to our charity's purposes – to see God's kingdom grow.
